WITH APPALLING LOSS OF HUMAN LIFE

but Estimated all the Way from Twenty to One Hundred.

New York, Peb. 8.-A disaster, par alieling in horror and probably exceed-ing in loss of life the terrible occursice in Park place, the remembrance of which is fresh in the public mind, becomed in this city early yesterday morning. The Hotel Royal, at Fortieth street and sixth avenue, was burned to the ground and a large puraber of peo-ple were burned to death, many suffeated by smoke and others crushed to nere were 190 guests in the house at the time the fire broke out. There was also some fifty-five employes of the ouse. Of these, six have been found lend, six are in the hospitals and sixty bree have been reported alive, either y themselves or friends.

This leaves 100 persons missing and they are supposed to be dead in the rains. The police have searched that part of the rains accessible, but have found no bodles. They believe that many of the missing persons will be found to have escaped. Of these, many tre supposed to have gone to their tomes. They were mostly transient guests and it is believed a large porwil' never report their escape.

He was seriously burned and bruised, but alive, and the crowd cheered him wildly, while he disap-peared, undentified, in the crowd. Mrs Keuper and her daughter Julia vho occupied a room on the thirddloor at the corner of Fortieth street and Sixth avenue, and who registered from Flemington, N. J., on Saturday, were reached by a policeman and a lireman, who carried them down a ladder. They lost all their clothing save their night dresses which they had on. Mrs. Kenpersoffered greatly from the shock, and Miss Keuper's long back bair was budly singed by the flames, which burst out of the window as she stepped on the ladder to safety. Richard Meares, proprietor of the Hotel Royal, miraculously escaped death with his wife. They retired at o'clock and were asteep on the second floor in the middle of the building and only a few feet from the elevator shaft which formed the draft for the fire, The janitor succeeded in waking the people on this floor but could get no arther up into the building, awing to Proprietor Meares and his wife first out when they emerged into the hall only partly clothed, they found a confin The stairways were filled flames darted out from the elevator shaft. Saying, "Pollow me," Mr. Meares, with his overcont over his head climbed over the bannisters at the head of the stairs and dropped to the floor below. Turning to catch his wife when she dropped, he was horrifled to see that she had not followed him. The frantic man would have rushed back in the burning stairs, but the firemen seized him and roughly bastened him out of the building and turned him over to a policeman. Meantime, Mrs. Means had acted for herself. With rare presence of mind, she rushed to the window and leaped rance and was taken down by the firemen. She sustained a sprained ankle, but was otherwise unburt by

The flames of the burning building luminated the sky for miles around and drew thousands of people to the scene, which, during the entire day, was an object of curiosity to the immense throng of people. Reserves from the ninetcenth and twentieth po-lice precincts held the growd well in check. The fire lines were strictly drawn and maintained during the whole day, and none save a person au-ers were put to work, clearing away the debris on the corner of Fortleth street. They continued their work un Early this morning 100 men, under Contractor Gallaway, were put to work, and it is expected the fearful work of the fire will soon be known. Coroner Hanley, who was early on the scene, arranged for the removal of all the bodies recovered direct to the morgue, where a description of them will be taken and they will be placed in coffin for identification. During the afternoon, Fire Marsha

Mitchell, had an interview with Mr. Meares, the proprietor of the hotel. From him it was learned that in the hotel at the time the fire occurred ther were 133 persons. Just how many of these escaped, it is difficit to say, but late in the afternoon, the firemen and the police came to the conclusion tha the number of lives lost would be be tween twenty and thirty, but they ad mitted that their figures were only based on suposition, and the number of deaths due to the fire might not be atown for days.

HAMMER AND TONGUES. Bloody Work in the Ring by a Couple of Amateurs.

Pirranungh, Pa., Feb. 7.—There was an extremly bloody prize fight on Sec ond avenue yesterday afternoon Thirty rounds were fought before the police interfered. Martin Carlin, au English puddler, and Billy Williams, a Welsh non worker, have been living near each other for years, but quar-reled incessantly. Finally it was agreed that they should settle their grudge by a regular fight in a ring. Both are large men and very power-ful, so that when their friends heard of the approaching battle they begen to the approaching battle they began to wager comparatively large sums of money on the result. The battle took place at 1 o'clock vesterday afternoon behind the old car stables of the Second avenue line. About 300 men and women gathered and formed a ring Williams' wife acted as his referee and s puddler performed a like office for Carlin. They also had seconds and water carriers.

The battle began without any for mality and with less science. The men stripped to the waist and began to nammer one another. Whenever on was knocked down, time was called The terrific sledge-hammer blows which they exchanged never missed, for blows, being to intent at doing up his enemy When they had fought twenty-five rounds both were cut and bleeding on their faces and breasts. The Chicago I theme Saturday receives in an able manner the situation as to Presidential candidates in the Republican party. It assumes that there are but two men upon whom the masses of Republicans look as possibilities, Harrison and Blance, and after fair consideration concludes that the state of Mr. Blance's health takes him out of line as an available candidate. This fact, the Tribune argues, leaves the President as the choice of the people for renomination.

It argues clearly that this is the logic.

He may take the stock to the Chicago market over the Santa Fe road.

Subsequent facts show that a dead wire has hanging low near the side-walk on Seventh and Elm streets, and a boy, chancing to come along, rubbed against the deadly conductor and was thrown to the ground in a helpless con dition. Observing the boy feebly struggling at the mercy of the pow erful current, several boys in the vicinity quickly gathered about him to offer their assistance. However much they wanted to help the poor victim, their well-meant intentions, manifested by intense excitement and wailing, were the extent of their efforts. Sergeant Boyd, as previously stated, was eriously shocked, but in spite of his broken knee-cap he heroically persisted in his efforts until he finally rescued the boy from a terrible death The Ind's injuries were but slight. The officer was taken to Dr. Bacon's office an Chestnut, between Sixth and Seventh streets, where his knee-cap was set and bandaged. Outside of his nervous system being prostrated by the shock, Sergeant Boyd's injuries are not
